Harmony with Nature: Economics, Justice and Mother Earth

Economic forces seem to conspire to cause human populations to damage and deplete the earth. How can those same forces be harnessed to establish a benign human presence and foster a mutually enhancing relationship between people and planet?

Ian Mason

Ian Mason is Principal of the School of Economic Science in London. The School of Economic Science is a centre for spiritual and practical knowledge and enquiry. Ian is a barrister and has presented to the United Nations on climate change issues. In August 2013 Ian accepted on behalf of the School the second Globalisation for the Common Good Award.
